AGID-Project - Final Dissemination Conference

Staff-Training on Ageing and Intellectual Disability

25th

Johann-Böhm Platz 1

The life expectancy of people with disabilities is increasing and this poses a major challenge for the everyday support and care for people with intellectual disabilities (ID). Professionals in our health and social care services have very little knowledge and awareness of older people with intellectual disabilities.

For this reason, the AGID consortium has set up a web-based training platform for frontline staff and health care professionals with the aim of addressing the most important challenges when supporting aging people with intellectual disabilities.

The Final Dissemination conference of the AGID project will :

1. Provide an overview of the important issues of Ageing in settings supporting PwID and a detailed insight into the importance of training of staff working with these issues
2. Provide information on the content of the training platform
3. Provide an opportunity for first-hand testing of the AGID training platform
4. Provide key note speeches on the AGID outcomes and what ageing for people with ID actually means
